

Where did I get this from?

Many years ago, I was attending a meeting of people interested in metaphysical subjects.

It was before the Internet was well-known so the only realistic way to gain valuable information from "masters" of a subject, if you didn't know them personally, was to go physically somewhere where you knew they were going to be and actually talk to them in person - I used to do that a lot.

Nowadays, we can just log into our favorite internet chat room or web discussion board and often we'll find a multitude of helpful experts already in there. In my early days, it was much, much harder.

Anyway, at this particular meeting, I got talking to a lovely elderly lady with bright, sparkling eyes.

I was just a young man in my 20s hungry for knowledge about life, the universe and everything. So I was happy to talk to anyone who seemed to know more than I did.

We were chatting about all kinds of metaphysical topics and for some reason, the conversation gradually steered towards the spiritual healing arts.

And eventually she mentioned something that I had never heard of before...blue water.

Blue water, she told me, was just plain ordinary water to which you added something special.

And when you added this one special thing, the water would take on strange, if not miraculous, properties.

It was just as though the ordinary water had been granted super-powers.

This special thing that you needed to add was abundant and freely available.

And there was even a limitless supply out there that anyone could use. But the puzzling thing was that no-one seemed to ever think of adding it to water.

So what is this mysterious, special thing we can add to the water?

...Sunlight.

Sunlight?!?! ...Now I was really intrigued.

And I guess she could tell that my interest was sincere because she said that, at her home, she had some written information about blue water. And she offered to give it to me at the next meeting.

She kept her promise and, some weeks later at the next meeting, she brought me a single sheet of paper that had been typed out by hand.

It was a busy meeting that day so I folded the paper and put it in my pocket to read later when I got home.

Life is strange sometimes, for a lot of things changed dramatically for me shortly after that meeting.

I had to leave my home town within a few days because of urgent work matters and I spent virtually the next few years travelling around the world, almost living out of a suitcase.

I never had the chance to go to those meetings again and I never saw that elderly lady again.

To this day, I don't even know if she is still alive.

I also don't know where this mysterious sheet of paper that she gave me came from, or who else knows about it.

What I do know is that the information on this sheet of paper was something that I had never come across before...or since.

For the past few years, I have occasionally searched the internet for references to this mysterious blue water but they just don't seem to exist.

I guess the truth is that many people just don't know this amazing secret about blue water.

So, now, rather than just keep this incredible information to myself, as has been the case for all these years, I'm going to share it with you for free.

The next section is an exact word-by-word copy of what was on that sheet of paper that was given to me.

Blue Water

Blue Water is water which has been left in a blue-coloured transparent container in direct sunlight for about an hour and a half.

It becomes "highly charged" and has amazing healing properties.

To make other "colours" of water, use an appropriately coloured container.

We will first consider the qualities of the BLUE charged water.

Here is what it is good for, and most people laugh at first but after trying it out they call it the "fountain of youth".

- rough, dry skin
- large pores
- yellowish complexion
- red inflamed eyes
- chapped hands

For these the blue charged water is remarkable. Use it freely as a wash. If your hair is light, do not use too much of it as it tends to darken it.

For dandruff and other flaking of the scalp, rub the blue water in with the fingertips, and massage the scalp thoroughly, if it is not too tender.

This treatment is also excellent for bald spots.

Massage flabby flesh with blue water and use for excessive perspiration.

The blue charged water being an antiseptic and astringent is better than tooth powders, liquids and pastes for cleaning teeth and using as a mouth wash. It destroys germs, hardens gums and sweetens the breath.

For sore tired feet, a footbath in blue water will make them feel like dancing.

Mix your shaving water with blue water and note the refreshing lift it gives your face.

Hair may be darkened by the use of blue water or may be made lighter by the use of amber charged water. Use the water plain or with your favourite soap.

For wounds or sores, the blue water is excellent used as a wash.

A little lemon juice squeezed into a glass will cause freckles to disappear like magic. Simply wash the skin with it and let it dry.

A cloth wrung out of blue charged water and placed on the forehead will relieve an ordinary headache in a few minutes.

When baby has a touch of colic, give a teaspoonful of blue charged water every 15 minutes - the effect is marvellous.

For catarrh or sinus problems, snuff up a little up the nose, for sore throats use as a gargle.

Indigestion and gastritis are readily relieved and cured by sipping blue water every few minutes for a while. Inflamed gums, sore mouths etc. may be cured by holding blue water in the mouth for a few minutes and then spitting it out.

Used in an eye cup or dropper, it will cure inflamed eyes, and strengthen weak eye muscles.

It will readily cure inflammatory conditions of the womb or rectum and is especially good for such conditions when freshly charged.

For nervous people, a small glass of blue water after meals will be found to be exceptionally fine to restore a harmonious balance.

Small doses at intervals of an hour will cure diarrhoea, dysentery, inflamed and painful stomachs, and cancerous skin growths.

Use for insomnia - a glass at night.

All in all, blue water is the best antiseptic, astringent and sedative that may be found in all of nature.

There are many other things that blue water is good for, which are too numerous to mention.

AMBER water is fine for lightening the hair and arousing sluggish skin, when the skin is inactive. It is also good for dandruff and baldness, as well as a nasal douche for catarrh or sinus trouble.

RED charged water contains much of the iron element, and is excellent for dormant, inactive stomach conditions, where the irritation is not too great.

In cases where irritation is shown, the PURPLE water would be better, until the irritation is removed, then use the red.

Red water is excellent for inactive skin, but it is best to alternate it with blue or purple water once or twice a week.

GREEN charged water is also a fine narvine but for all ordinary purposes, the blue will suffice.

ORANGE charged water should never be used unless the exact condition of the patient is known.

It acts as a powerful laxative, therefore it is best not to use it, and the amber and blue will suffice in 99 percent of the cases.

You now have in your possession information which will help you keep in good health and restore many conditions.

Charged water will do wonders for you if you will use it as directed.

THE END